

*The serialization of the response from the aggregation service should happen concurrently with the loop over the N granules in the request. Our implementation currently falls short in this area. Also, the original spec called for zip and tar.gz responses, but we have implemented only zip. The extension of our service in each of these regards is mostly trivial (although threading in Tomcat is more than normally complex).